WASHINGTON, July 6.—The newly nominated Republican and Democratic national tickets came to actual grips today in a White House setting.

President Hoover assembled a special congressional subcommittee in his office this morning in a final effort to force acceptance of his personal terms in the pending $2,125,000,000 relief bill.

Outstanding among the delegation from Capitol Hill was Speaker John N. Garner of Texas, Democratic vice presidential nominee, who is co-author with Senator Robert Wagner (D) of New York, of the measure which Mr. Hoover finds objectionable in its present form.

Prolong Congress Session

Failure to reach a compromise today will result in a presidential veto of the bill which is designed to relieve unemployment, human suffering and stagnant business.

As leaders admit a veto could not be overridden, a stalemate in the White House conferences will mean indefinite prolongation of the current session of congress.

Beer Battle Nearing Showdown In Senate; Defeat Is Indicated

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The battle for legalized beer neared a showdown in the senate today with dry leaders likely to block a direct vote on its adoption.

The Bingham plan, proposing modification of the Volstead act so as to legalize 3.2 per cent beer by weight, may be sidetracked by reference to the judiciary committee for a report on its constitutionality. This was favored by Democratic dry leaders, who objected to a direct vote on the beer issue to the November elections, even though their party platform called for immediate modification of the Volstead act.

The Bingham bill, offered as a "rider" to the administration's Home Loan Bank bill, came to the senate through its manufacturers committee, which held lengthy public hearings. It was adversely reported, but that was before the two great political conventions declared for resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment and before the Democrats pledged their party to its repeal.

Young Carter was killed almost instantly and the Gifford boy suffered a broken arm. A salesman, passing the scene, brought the dead and injured youths into Brookings where young Gifford was placed in a hospital.

The two youths were on a cross-country pleasure drive when the accident occurred.

HARRISBURG, July 6.—The entire appropriation muddle now occupying the center of the stage in the special legislative session was thrown upon the floor of the House today for solution.

The appropriations committee voted to report out all bills restoring abatements, introduced last week, as well as the series of 50 bills introduced last night to amend the 1931 appropriations by cutting the sums allocated to all departments, state agencies, hospitals and educational institutions.

Actually dumping the whole financial problem upon the open floor, the committee thereby confronted assemblymen with the giant task of winnowing chaff from wheat and making their own decision on economies and expenditures.

LONDON, July 6.—After less than two hours' deliberation, a jury of ten men and two women today acquitted Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, daughter of a titled millionaire, of the slaying of Michael Scott Stephen, her lover.

The jury retired at 2:54 p. m. after hearing a summation by Justice Travers Humphrey which was regarded as highly favorable to the defendant, who is the estranged wife of John S. Barney, an American vaudeville and radio singer.

At 4:48 p. m. the jury filed back into the tense and crowded courtroom. The clerk called for order and asked the foreman of the jury whether a verdict had been reached. The reply was in the affirmative. The jury was then asked the result of its deliberations.

"We find the defendant not guilty," was the reply.

Stephen, son of a wealthy Irish banker, was shot to death in Mrs. Barney's exorbitant flat in Williams Mews, a back street of London's west end, after a cocktail party on the night of May 31.

Mrs. Barney, pale and trembling, was asked to stand in front of the dock when the jury had returned to the courtroom. As the verdict was announced a huge sigh swept the courtroom, the expression of relief that issued from one woman's throat was almost a scream.

COMPLETING HALF CENTURY OF SERVICE

FRED L. RENTZ

The present month is a notable one in the life of Fred L. Rentz, president of The News company. Fifty years ago this month he secured his first job on The News, and he has been associated with the newspaper ever since.

The exact date of the 50th anniversary will fall on July 30. For a large part of the 50 years Mr. Rentz has been actively at the head of the newspaper enterprise, and has seen it develop from a small publication to the important journal that it is today.

Congratulations are already arriving at the office of Mr. Rentz from some of those who are aware of the approach of the anniversary marking the completion of half a century of service on the newspaper, and indications are that countless additions to these messages and tributes will find their way to Mr. Rentz in the next few weeks.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 6.—Smith Reynolds, socially prominent scion of the wealthy tobacco family, died early today at a local hospital of a bullet wound inflicted at his suburban home shortly after midnight.

He was found, a bullet wound in his head, on the sleeping porch of his home at 1 o'clock by Ed Walker, one of the guests he and his wife, Libby Holman, the noted blues singer, had been entertaining.

Rushed to a hospital, he died shortly before dawn. Walker said the shot was accidental, occurring while Reynolds was cleaning his revolver.

Sheriff J. I. Scott, who at first announced the shooting was "apparently suicide" immediately began an investigation and summoned a coroner's jury to meet at once.

The man was picked up in his rooms on the East Side district of Cleveland late yesterday, on information furnished by the county authorities and is believed to be one of the trio who held up Officer Campbell and officials of the bank, and took part in the robbery and shooting.

Shattering all speed records for such a flight, Mattern and Griffin covered approximately 3,000 miles from Harbor Grace to Berlin in 18 hours and 43 minutes without a stop. Demand Supply Of Drugs As Train Is Nearing Harrisburg

CHARGES ENROUTE TO KANSAS PRISON

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 6.—Twenty-three federal prisoners, all drug addicts, staged a desperate mutiny for narcotics as their train approached Harrisburg early today enroute to the government prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

The U. S. marshal in charge of the prisoners telegraphed to railroad police asking them to provide a supply of drugs to quiet his charges when they arrived here.

Pool Stock of Drug. A local hospital was unable to supply the quantity needed, but police obtained the services of two physicians who pooled their stocks of narcotics. The drug was administered by the physicians under police guard when the train arrived here.

Several windows in the railroad car were reported shattered by the prisoners who rebelled because their supply of drugs had been cut off while enroute to the federal prison.

Pittsburgh, July 6.—Uncle Sam entertained 23 "guests" today by jabbing morphine needles into their arms.

The guests, all dope addicts, were met at a train bearing them from New York to Leavenworth prison by Pittsburgh physicians and deputy U. S. marshals. Each prisoner was given a "shot". Some received one-quarter and others one-half grain of morphine.

More "shots" are planned when the train reaches Chicago tonight. The addicts, riding in a special sleeping car, were comparatively quiet here, although they became disorderly during the night while the train neared Harrisburg, chased a deputy marshal into a washroom and otherwise "kicked up a ruckus".

They were quieted with "shots" at Harrisburg. All of the prisoners were rounded up in the eastern district of New York.

To Remove Stigma. Under Premier MacDonald's fire, Chancellor Von Papen was reported ready to drop his political demands provided the new agreement replaces the reparations clauses of the treaty of Versailles and thereby erases from Germany the stigma of war guilt.

Premier MacDonald told M. Herriot of the change in Von Papen's attitude. Herriot's demand for a safety clause altering the agreement if America insists upon war debt payments was no longer considered a serious obstacle by the British because of the necessity for parliamentary ratifications in any event.

executive offices last night, considerable missionary work will have to be done this morning to bring about a harmonizing of views. The president will find himself arguing with four Democrats, while two Republicans only are present to give him support.

No Agreement.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Efforts of President Hoover to impose his national relief views on Democratic leaders of congress ended in complete failure today.

The conference the executive had called at the White House broke up after two hours in a hopeless stalemate.

As a result, it appeared likely the Garner-Wagner $2,122,000,000 relief bill will be passed in the form which is objectionable to Mr. Hoover and the responsibility of veto placed upon him.

Speaker Garner of Texas said following the meeting that the house and senate conferees on the relief measure would meet later in the day to chart their future actions. Senator Wagner (D) of New York, co-author with Garner of the bill, said upon leaving the White House it was his expectation that the bill would be passed in its present form and that the president then would veto it.

Rep. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader of the house, also predicted that the conferees would proceed regardless of the president's objections.

Over Bremen

Bremen, Germany, July 6.—A plane believed to be the craft carrying Bennett Griffin and James Mattern on a record-breaking round-the-world flight was reported sighted over Bremen this afternoon. Officials of the Luft Hansa, Germany's great commercial flying organization, reported the plane had been seen at 2:50 p. m., (9:50 a. m. E. D. T.) flying at a great height and heading eastward at terrific speed.

The time of the sighting was 4 hours and 15 minutes after Mattern and Griffin were seen over Rosapenna, Northwestern Ireland, after successfully crossing the ocean from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Plan Welcome

Berlin, July 6.—Frederic M. Sackett, United States Ambassador to Germany, and a municipal reception committee motored out to the Tempelhof Aerodrome on the outskirts of Berlin this afternoon to welcome James J. Mattern and Bennett Griffin, due shortly on their record-breaking round the world flight.

German fliers and aviation officials were astounded at the speed of the American airmen. At first they were disinclined to believe that Griffin and Mattern had crossed the ocean in less than twelve hours of flying, setting a new all time record, and their doubts were dissipated.

Break Records

Belfast, Ireland, July 6.—Making spectacular time in their attempt to set a new record for a round-the-world flight, James J. Mattern and Bennett Griffin, former United States army aviators, successfully bridged the Atlantic ocean today and swept on toward Berlin.

Their red, white and blue monoplane "Century of Progress" flashed over Rosapenna, Northwestern Ireland, at 10:35 a. m. today (5:35 a. m. E. D. T.), only 11 hours and 36 minutes after taking off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

The water jump set a new all time record for trans-Atlantic crossings. Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam crossed from Newfoundland to Ireland in 14 hours and 56 minutes this summer, breaking the record held for years by Sir John Alcock and Sir Arthur Whitten-Brown.

Griffin and Mattern clipped more than three hours from Mrs. Putnam's mark.

At Terrific Speed

Guests at a summer resort hotel in Rosapenna, a popular gathering place in County Donegal, 100 miles west of Belfast, sighted the fleet craft as it sped over the settlement at terrific speed.

The colors of the plane were clearly visible, as the fliers swooped low in a gesture of salutation to the emerald isle.

Fog, wind, storms and low visibility failed to delay the daring airmen in their attempt to shatter the record established by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty for circumnavigation of the globe.

By their lightning speed across the danger-choked expanses of the Atlantic, the fliers made up for the time lost when they circled four hours in a fog over the Harbor Grace airport yesterday afternoon. When they flashed over Rosapenna, they were approximately three hours ahead of the time taken by Post and Gatty for the same approximate distance.

Can Beat Record

The speed on the ocean flight, if maintained during the remainder of the long journey around the world, should easily enable Mattern and Griffin to set a new record. Post and Gatty took 16 hours and 17 minutes to fly from Harbor Grace to Chester, England.

Mattern and Griffin left Floyd Bennett airport, Brooklyn, N. Y., at 5:01 E. D. T. yesterday. At 3:37 p. m., they landed at Harbor Grace and after a two hour and 22 minute halt for refueling, took off for the Atlantic hop at 5:59 p. m.

Thus when they flashed over Rosapenna, their total elapsed time was only 24 hours and 34 minutes. Post and Gatty took 26 hours and 50 minutes to fly from Roosevelt field to Chester.

RETURN FROM FUNERAL

Frank Nugent, superintendent of the city disposal plant, and family, Greenwood avenue, have returned from Erie, where they were called by the death of Mr. Nugent's sister, Miss Margaret Nugent, aged 58, who died following an operation in St. Vincent's hospital, that city.

head. Several cleaning rags lay near the pistol. He apparently was cleaning the revolver when it was discharged accidentally.

Walker said he rushed Reynolds to the Baptist hospital in his automobile. The wealthy youth did not regain consciousness and died shortly before dawn.

Miss Holman, Walker said was prostrate with grief and under the care of a physician at the Reynolds home. Officers were attempting to interview her.

Reynolds, a skilled aviator, married Miss Holman May 20 after his first wife, the former Anne Cannon, daughter of a wealthy Carolina textile operator, obtained a divorce at Reno.

Anne Cannon Reynolds charged cruelty to her husband. They had a two year old child.

Walker said Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds entertained four persons at dinner and bridge last night.

The 21 year old multimillionaire left his guests shortly after midnight and was not seen again until he was found dying on the sleeping porch, Walker declared.

Walker said nothing had occurred during the evening that would lend credence to a suicide theory. Reynolds seemed to be in the best of spirits, according to Walker.

Heir To Millions

Smith Reynolds, heir to $20,000,000 left by his father, the late William N. Reynolds, tobacco manufacturer, married Libby Holman some time this spring.

The marriage was announced May 20, when the Broadway blues singer and the young sportsman registered at the Hotel Ambassador.

"We're dreadfully happy," the stage star said at the time.

It was the second matrimonial venture for young Reynolds. In 1929, when he was 18, he married Anne L. Cannon, 19, a daughter of Joseph F. Cannon, textile manufacturer of York, S. C.

She divorced him in Reno last November, obtaining a settlement of $1,000,000.

Life Is Well Known

Miss Holman is 26. She attracted wide attention as a warbler of melancholy songs in "The Little Show" of 1929 and she was starred with Clifford Ebb and Fred Allen in "Three's a Crowd" last season. She has a B. A. from the University of Cincinnati.

Reynolds was an ardent aviation enthusiast. He circled the globe by plane and ship last year and at one time was interested in Roosevelt field on Long Island. He had a summer home at Port Washington.

R. S. Reynolds, a cousin who lives at Glen Cove, L. I. said he had heard nothing about the shooting.

peared at the beer hearings to declare the bill constitutional. Democratic drafts insisted upon a report from the senate judiciary committee. They argued the judiciary committee, having drafted the Volstead act when the Eighteenth Amendment was approved, should consider any and all changes in it. The wet leaders suggested this position was taken to "dodge a vote."

First reports of a poll that showed 55 senate votes in favor of 32 per cent beer, appeared erroneous. A thorough check by International News Service failed to reveal a majority in favor of the Buchanan "riders." On the contrary, there were indications of a majority favoring its reference to the judiciary committee—an act, which would definitely kill the bill for the present session.

The groom served with the Italian forces during the whole period of Italy's participation in the World War and for the last five years has been in business in New York City where they expect to make their home.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for New York from where they will sail to England to visit the groom's mother. Also, they will spend some time in Italy and France before returning to New York in the fall.

GOLDEN WEDDING EVENT ON TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. White of 1311 Albert street, were at home Tuesday afternoon and evening to approximately one hundred friends and relatives, who gathered there to extend their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. White, the occasion being their fiftieth or golden wedding anniversary. The recipients of the honors of the occasion were assisted by their four daughters in receiving the guests of the occasion, the daughters being Miss Minnie White, Mrs. Edith Cartwright and Mrs. Mary Davis of this city and Mrs. Jessie James, of Bellevue. Dainty refreshments were served with Miss Dorothy White, Mrs. Violet Beynon and Mrs. Marie Patterson pouring. The hours were from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Fourth annual reunion of the Elliott Clan, consisting of the Elliott, Elder and Marshall families of this district was an event of the Fourth of July at the home of William H. Elliott on the Slippery Rock at Plain Grove. The scene of the reunion is very prominent in the history of Western Pennsylvania in the earlier days of the country and had been in possession of the Elliott Clan since those days.

Members of the clan to the number of thirty-six were present from Grove City, Salem, O., Cleveland, O., Pittsburgh, Emsworth, Canada and the immediate district. Dinner was served at noon and again in the early evening, a delicious lunch was served.

Elliott of Grove City, who are in their nineteenth year, who told most interestingly of the modes of travel in their early life.

The place of holding the reunion is most historic in the event this year, that Oliver Hazard Perry in 1793 crossed the Slippery Rock Creek on the old trail leading to Lake Erie. The chimneys of the first log cabin at this trail crossing site are still standing.

It is the plan of the Elliott Clan to erect a monument with a suitable place of holding the event this year, that Oliver Hazard Perry in 1793 crossed the Slippery Rock Creek on the old trail leading to Lake Erie. The chimneys of the first log cabin at this trail crossing site are still standing.

William H. Elliott owns the original farm and has a number of interesting relics of the old cabin, the chimneys of which are still standing. He had these on display Monday. They include pewter spoons, brass buttons from an old coat, Indian Darts and stones used in skinning wild animals, which he found in the old log cabin, the remains of which are still standing. The upper end of the Elliott place is occupied by Dr. Fithian's Camp for Girls.

HEALTH PROSPERITY OF THE UNITED STATES

SURGEON GENERAL CUMMING, in his annual report to the President, declared that in spite of the economic depression during the past year the country has never been as prosperous in the matter of the health of the people as in 1931.

The absence of unpreventable epidemics has been partly responsible for this state of things but unusual credit is due to the aroused interest of the people in this vital subject.

Health bodies in cities and States have functioned successfully and as a consequence general health is better than ever. What makes the report particularly significant is the fact that it includes the last quarter of 1931, which covers the beginning of Winter, when higher mortality is generally experienced.

The Surgeon General tells us that mortality for the Nation during the past year was as low as in 1930 and definitely lower than in the two previous years. Forty-eight large cities showed a decrease in the death rate, 28 an increase, and six remained the same.

The report states that among 75,000,000 industrial policyholders the rates showed no increase. There has been a gratifying continuation of the downward trend in deaths from tuberculosis and many other causes. Also infant mortality, based on figures received from 70 large cities, is lower than in any preceding year on record. Many other interesting details were included in this annual statement.

It is no exaggeration to say that health is one of the greatest assets in the world. Hence there is cause for gratification in this report of the Surgeon General. It is like a ray of sunshine on a cloudy day. With health and the will to succeed, all things are possible.

LEARN HOW TO WALK

An extremely important phase of the automobile accident problem is carelessness or ignorance on the part of the pedestrian. During 1931, pedestrian deaths reached 14,500, out of a total of 34,400 deaths caused by automobiles, and the number of pedestrians injured non-fatally was 300,000. Consequently, if we are to make definite progress in reducing deaths and injuries, we must teach the public to walk.

In the case of the walker on the highway at night, the old rule of "Keep to the right" may be suicidal—the left side is the right side. Wearing dark clothing increases the hazard because of its invisibility. Weather conditions are all important, and at the hour between light and darkness, when the pedestrian tends to blend into the background and figuratively disappear, he must be extremely careful, inasmuch as the driver may not be able to see him at all, and hence cannot take care of him.

Carelessness in crossing streets, stepping suddenly out from between parked cars, walking around the end of a street car into traffic and thoughtlessness and abstraction regarding traffic lights, court disaster.

If pedestrians can learn "good walking practices," deaths and injuries from automobiles will be reduced.

UPPING POSTAL RATES

Tacking another penny on the letter postal rate was not so simple a matter as it might seem at first. There is more involved in the procedure than the passage of a congressional act approving the increase.

For example, government printing presses have been turning out the new three-cent stamps at the rate of $100,000,000 a day, in order to have 4,000,000,000 ready for the initial distribution before July 6, when the higher rate went into effect. Here are some juicy figures for the statisticians to play with:

Another billion one-cent stamps must be printed distributed for use with the two-cent stamps and two-cent stamped envelopes that will not be used before July 6. Another emergency requirement of the post office is a supply, running into hundreds of millions, of one-cent and three-cent postage due stamps, made necessary by the fallibility of the habit-bound human memory.

Congress and the post office department expect the higher letter rate to produce $160,000,000 in additional revenue. Events during the next few months may show them to have been overly optimistic.

TOUCHING REMINDER OF FLEETING FAME

An incident that came to light in New York the other day is an incident of a little old woman who passed away in her apartment in an East Side tenement house at the advanced age of ninety. For more than six months she was so crippled with rheumatism and age that she could scarcely walk. She was very sensitive about accepting "charity," and warm-hearted neighbors, almost as poor as herself, had to use much ingenuity in seeing that she was decently cared for in her last days on earth.

The interest in this story lies in the fact that the little old woman was Nettie Burk, a world-famous bareback and trick rider, who won fame and comparative fortune with the P. T. Barnum circus. In her younger days she earned what must have seemed like the princely sum of $250 a week. With Barnum's "Greatest Show on Earth" she toured the United States and visited many parts of Europe, giving thrills to millions of persons on both sides of the Atlantic. Her first job with the circus came when she was only eighteen. But her glory ended when she deserted the sawdust ring and made an unhappy marriage. Even then she worked hard to support an invalid mother. In her later years she had some assistance from the Actors' Fund, and was also helped by the charitable poor aid whom her final days were spent.

Not the least touching incident of her varied life came a few years ago, when she was once again permitted to ride at the head of a circus procession in Madison Square Garden. It was a vivid though fleeting reminder of the great days that had gone forever.

Were You Ever X-Rayed?
It's Amusing
And Requires Faith

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Science is wonderful. Just marvelous. The things those doctors and surgeons can do. When you go into a doctor's office these days, you can't even keep a secret. They want to know everything. What you ate for breakfast. How much you smoke. What dreams you have. How many hours you work. And whether you're a pessimist or an optimist. And how much you lost in the crash, and who's your favorite talkie star.

Well, maybe I am exaggerating, but not so very much. It was different in the old days. The old family doctor knew all about you. He'd brought you into the world. He knew your grandmother and he knew your mother and he carried you through measles and mumps and diphtheria and everything else. You couldn't fool him. He knew you through and through and didn't need to ask any questions.

This modern doctor never saw you before. So he asks questions and he wants facts. They've fixed up a lot of machines that furnish him with the measurements he needs. Fluoroscopes. Metabolism testers. All kinds of jiggers. And X-ray machines. You mustn't forget those. The doctor says that first of all you must have your teeth X-rayed. He makes an appointment and you go. You have to go—it's the law! That X-ray room is a Sax Rohmer setting. The servant of the machine laughs at your fears. You take off your coat and loosen your necktie and you lie down among the sand bags on a curved, polished wagon. It looks like the curved stone the Aztec priests used for human sacrifices. You hold your head this way and you hold your breath. The machine whirs at your feet. You take off your coat and loosen your necktie and you lie down among the sand bags on a curved, polished wagon. It looks like the curved stone the Aztec priests used for human sacrifices. You hold your head this way and you hold your breath. The machine whirs at your feet. You take off your coat and loosen your necktie and you lie down among the sand bags on a curved, polished wagon. It looks like the curved stone the Aztec priests used for human sacrifices. You hold your head this way and you hold your breath. The machine whirs at your feet.

And that's modern medicine. They say the Age of Faith is past. Anybody believes anything any more. Nonsense! This is an Age of Faith—and you must believe what the doctor tells you. He's the boss.

AN OPEN MIND

You have been called two-faced because you can see both sides and appreciate the reason for change of front at times.

Home folk are so anxious to appear opinionated that they never change even when proven wrong. It takes a brave person to reverse front when reason dictates a course directly opposite to the one originally taken.

A witness is not influenced by what others may say for or against him but is governed by circumstances and evidences.

Have the courage of your convictions.

Suppose you do find that you were mistaken, it may not be too late to align yourself with the right of the question.

It is a great deal better to see your mistake and change than it is to cling to an opinion of course that may bring disaster eventually.

It shows you are a thinking person and can learn through reasoning power. After a trial, another way seems better than the one you first chose, and you take it.

If you don't want to change with progress, keep an open mind and do not express yourself so positively that it is hard to take back your words.

HOME-COOKING

Nellie got a meal today.
Set the table, too.
Cut the bread the dainty way,
As she used to do.

She and I at table sat,
Linen white as snow.
We had every meal like that
Many years ago.

Nellie made the tea herself,
Broiled a slice of ham,
And from off the pantry shelf
Brought my favorite jam.

Why should I my joy conceal
When it plain appears,
That's the finest evening meal
I have had for years.

Sun sets tonight 7:34. Sun rises tomorrow 4:35.

A female fashioned expert spilled the following: "The dresses this fall will call for snug elastic corsets worn tight about the ribs, making the drawing of a deep breath difficult if not actually impossible. In the old days of thin hotel partitions one could hear loud exclamations of relief from the fat ladies after they had gotten their corsets off and often the remarks smacked of profanity."

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

A young couple has just been married and had furnished their home by means of the "club plan." Everything in their home had been bought by the same method.

One day the husband returned home with his pay.

"Are there any installments due today?" he inquired, after his wife had greeted him.

"No, dear, I think not," she replied.

"Any payments due on the house, the radio, the furniture, the rugs, our clothes, or the books?" he suggested.

"Again he was assured there was nothing due."

"Good! Then I have $10 we don't need. What do you say if we buy a new car?"

One could not tell very much about the clearing of the Democratic convention. Everything was cheered and even if Al Smith did get cheered for over an hour he didn't get so many votes. The delegates do the voting and the galleries do the booing. Lots of people who don't even vote do a lot of bunking also.

LOOK OUT FOR TAXPAYERS!

The politicians may not know it, the officeholders may have a faint idea about it, but those who follow the onward march of government, and the costs of misgovernment, are banding together, and they are demanding that those who are paid to represent the people do so or get out.

And those candidates who are promising the people a reduction in taxes if they are elected had better bear in mind these promises, for the people are not prone to take any more wallops. Government for the people, of the people, and by the people, must be something besides a campaign slogan. For constant struggle against adverse conditions tends to harden. And a hardened people are dangerous to handle.

WHY NOT TAX 'EM?

A few days ago we had an item in this column setting forth the fact that no public officials in the United States pay income tax except the president of the United States. This article brought forth the following from a reader of The News:

Dear Mr. Hints and Dints:—Should you have included the "nation" in the list of employees who escape the income tax? (See Revenue Act of 1928, section 22, article 52, page 10.) "The salary of federal officers and employees are subject to tax."

I sure think you are right. Every citizen should pay on their income regardless of its source. When the president of the U. S. says on his salary the governor of Pennsylvania should be taxed on his as well.

Do you know I think it would make good reading matter if one of your crew would make up a list of how many in this country are not taxed owing to this provision in the law and I think the number would surprise us. All state employees, all county employees, all city employees, all school teachers, all employees free public library and dear old knows how many more receiving over $1000 and unmarried or over $2500 and married.

That is another point in the law I don't think is fair. If I am allowed $1000 for personal exemption Mr. and Mrs. H. & D. should only be allowed $2000.

Two-Thirds Rule Defended And Assailed As Future Guide

Traditional Feature of Democratic Conventions Charged With Handicapping Strong Candidates But Protecting All Groups In Party

Decision to retain the two-thirds rule in the 1932 Democratic convention turns public attention to the historic character of the rule, and has aroused a national debate on its provisions. Its supporters argue that abolishment would necessitate the removal of the unit rule, and that the provision is necessary for the protection of each of the branches of the party.

"Without the two-thirds rule and with the unit rule maintained," says FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM (Ind. Dem.), "a candidate might win the nomination on a majority vote." The NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE (Dem.) maintains that the rule "has prevented in considerable and saving measure the complete dominance of Democratic conventions and the selection of Democratic candidates by heavily populated States, North and East, that send huge delegations to the convention—yet almost invariably bestow their electoral votes upon the Republican candidates." The SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.) takes the same objection to a change in the rule. The YAKIMA DAILY REPUBLICAN (Rep.) advises that the century-old requirement "has both tradition and reason on its side," and points out that "every politician is bound to admit that it has enormous potential values to him."

TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL (Rep.) believes that "the fact it has never been abrogated, though it has been an issue in numerous national conventions, gives it much prestige among Democrats."

The divergent elements that go to make up the Democratic party, according to the BOSTON GLOBE (Ind. Dem.), "have always considered the two-thirds rule as in a measure a protection. The party is strong in the South, where it controls a number of States; in the West, where it must always fight the Republicans for State control; and in some Eastern metropolitan areas, where it has been for many years strongly organized. It is argued that united support of the party voters depends on each of these three sections enjoying a veto power in the convention through the two-thirds rule."

"Only by keeping the rule intact can the Democratic South wield its rightful influence in the party's deliberations," in the opinion of the BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD (Dem.), which adds that "it gives the other sections the same power." The COLUMBIA (S. C.) RECORD contends: "Always there is a tendency for the party to fly apart. It splits into two groups, despite the two-thirds rule, in 1860 and in 1896, but the two-thirds rule has been a device for holding the conflicting elements together by forcing the nomination of candidates more or less agreeable to both in spirit. It gives either group the power of veto in normal years, and this power of veto is of some special importance to the Southern States."

Similar arguments are made by the HOUSTON CHRONICLE (Dem.), while the ABILENE REPORTER (Ind. Dem.) remarks: "The chief value of the rule is that it keeps designing politicians from packing the convention with hand-picked delegates. It is comparatively easy to achieve a majority, but stretching it to a good two-thirds is something else again."

The OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN (Ind.) however, advises that "at some future time the party should bury the rule so deep that it never will be heard of again." The COLUMBIA (MO.) DAILY TRIBUNE (Dem.) declares that it "was born of ruthless political power," and advises that "Presidential minority candidates and dark horses favor its continuance at any rate while there's hope for them."

"There is no reason," maintains the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR (Ind. Dem.), "why the Democrats should cling to their rule that the votes of two-thirds of the delegates are necessary to bring about a nomination. Time honored as the rule is, it is not sacred. Many of Governor Roosevelt's opponents agreed with him that it should be changed. They do not believe that, on the whole, it has tended to make their party more democratic; indeed, instead of insuring majority rule, it has often put control of the convention into the hands of a minority. Under the two-thirds rule, one-third can impose their will upon the rest. Again, there is nothing in the history of the party—save the one exception of 1912 when the friends of Woodrow Wilson held out and nominated him against Champ Clark's majority—to show that the two-thirds rule brings out better men. The Republicans have no such rule and have gotten very well, merely by requiring a majority to nominate. The two-thirds rule has always been a source of dissension and division."

The theory that a nomination by two-thirds vote, remarks the MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS (Ind. Dem.), "would show a more general concurrence of sentiment in favor of a particular individual, would carry with it greater weight and be more favorably received than one made by a smaller number, has not been borne out by subsequent history. Time after time it has been the cause of prolonged and bitter struggles that have created party feuds and hatreds. The convention has the power to change the rule, though the procedure presents many difficulties. Most likely the change, if it comes, will be the result of state conventions. It is not likely that this old tradition will be thrown overboard as a planned piece of em-

To speak of "sordid" politics is absurd after you have read of what has been going on in New York.

In what other field of human interest would you find so much friendship, so much devotion, so many buddies carrying each other on Wall Street accounts without asking a cent deposit; so many admirers offering free trips to Europe because they noticed you have been looking a bit fagged recently and might profit by a change; so much generosity; so many benefactions; so many manifestations of the spirit of noblesse oblige; such a striking absence of cold-blooded documents like checks, O. State Senate Seeks To Aid Relief Moves

Bills Would Authorize Securing Of Loan From R. F. C.

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 6.—With two bills passed finally and its program considerably less cluttered than that of the house by relief proposals, the senate prepared today to dispose of several measures in committee and to advance others on the floor.

A plan whereby the state might procure and apply $10,000,000 directly to unemployment relief was submitted by Senator George Woodward, Philadelphia. The Woodward bill proposed an application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for an advance of the total amount the state is entitled to from funds made available for furnishing relief and work relief by an act of congress.

The two Freeman bills, permitting the secretary of banking to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation on the assets of closed banks and permitting building and loan associations to borrow on mortgages and property from the same source received the official approval of the senior branch and were sent to the house last night.

Senator Samuel W. Salus, Philadelphia, sponsored several new bills and Senator John J. McClure offered five more.

One Salus measure proposed a ten percent salary cut for all state employees receiving more than $1800 annually, another would put a 2 percent stamp tax on the first annual premium of insurance policies, and a third would authorize cities of the first class to impose an annual license fee on motor vehicles.

Senator William D. Petnick, Wayne, would levy a tax on chain stores, tax every gasoline station pump $1, and establish a five-day week for all state employees, reducing salaries about $1500 proportionately, under the terms of three bills he introduced.

Motorists seeking special attention in the form of designated license plates would pay $2.50 to $5 additional for the service if another bill sponsored by Senator McClure is passed.

Rabbit Rodeos Harmless Sport Judge Declares

(International News Service)
ODESSA, Texas, July 6.—Editor county cowboys may stage their "jackrabbit rodeos" without fear of molestation from officials or humane societies, Judge Henry E. Webb has ruled.

Judge Webb has made permanent an injunction against county officials, restraining them from molesting the cowboys as they match their skill as ropers against the speed of the jackrabbit.

The war over the jackrabbits resulted when members of the Humane Society from various sections of the county appealed to the county officials to halt the proposed "jackrabbit rodeos" on the ground that such rodeos resulted in unnecessary cruelty to the rabbits.

The sheriff then ordered the sponsors of the rodeos to abandon the sport, and the leaders retaliated by bringing injunction proceedings against the sheriff.

A temporary injunction was granted, and before it became permanent Judge Webb witnessed a rodeo and declared it the most harmless sport he ever witnessed.

Being supported by the public isn't degrading, however, if you get $7000 a year instead of $6 a week.

Richards In Bloc Asking Relief Speed

Sub-Committee Not Satisfied With Progress At Special Session

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 6.—Development in legislating unemployment relief took a sudden and unexpected turn today when the Wade-Sheffer group of rural representatives split openly with the Talbot-Turner bloc and came out independently with demands for speedy enactment of the agreed program.

The Wade-Sheffer adherents bluntly expressed dissatisfaction with the progress of the special session.

Referring to the 14 point program outlined by Gov. Gifford Pinchot and political leaders, the group in a statement declared that "enactment of this program at once is imperative."

The statement said, in part: "We understand that there will probably be $23,000,000 available from the federal government under the Wagner act, which can be utilized for direct relief purposes.

"In so far as economies are concerned, we believe that the balancing of the budget and restoration of the abated appropriations for mothers' assistance funds, hospitals, etc., will utilize all of the reductions that are apparently possible in the operation of the state government.

Obviously impatient with the slow, lumbering progress of the legislative mill, burdened with scores of bills, the statement concluded sharply: "We want to get this thing over as speedily and effectively as possible."

On the sub-committee of the Wade-Sheffer group which drafted the statement were Representatives Bart Richards, Lawrence; Chester H. Rhodes, Monroe; Charles F. Bidelsbacher, Lycoming; Louis G. Hagmaier, Allegheny, and Thomas C. Evans, Cambria.

The Senate held but a short session, recessing until 3:30 this afternoon. At that time both salary measures will be passed on first reading.

Union Township Store Is Entered

Thieves Are Frightened Away And Leave Behind Loot In Hurried Flight

Store of James T. Atkinson on the Youngstown road, near Scotland Lane school, was the scene of an attempted robbery about 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Entrance was effected by forcing an outside cellar way and then forcing the door from the cellar into the store.

Mr. Atkinson was awakened by the noise made by the thieves and at once notified Constable Thomas O'Brien when he discovered what was going on.

Constable O'Brien responded in his car and arrived in front of the store just as Mr. Atkinson also was leaving his nearby residence. The thieves had some sugar in gunny sacks, one of which contained 75 pounds.

The robbers realized what was going on apparently as Constable O'Brien arrived, and made their exit by the rear outside cellar door in a hurry, leaving behind the sack with the 75 pounds of sugar. Nothing of value was missing.

Gas Company Sends Out Tax Reminder

Pink Slip Pasted On Bills This Month Says Some Of Bill Is For Taxes

Pasted to each bill being sent out by the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, a subsidiary of the Columbus Gas and Electric Company, is a pink slip, reminding patrons of the increase in taxes which affect them.

The slip states: "A large part of this bill is for taxes. The amount you pay in this way goes toward the cost of government. Pending legislation for unemployment relief and additional public utility tax will increase this amount."

Flour Shipment Arrives Today

Supply Is Received As Previous Allotment Is Entirely Exhausted

Just as the previous allotment of flour, received three months ago, was entirely exhausted, the first shipment of the new requisition of 3,621 barrels made by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, arrived in time to avert distress among those receiving assistance in the county.

The carload, shipped from Hillsdale, Mich., by F. W. Stock and Sons, contained 1,968 sacks and will last the balance of the week; the demand at the present time amounting to 2,200 sacks.

Word was received this morning that the second carload is coming forward immediately and will be received by the last of the week or early next week.

The sum of $225 is being saved those contributing to relief work here through an economy measure introduced in handling the new flour coming in. Heretofore, the flour was trucked to the Carnegie Auditorium which cost approximately $15 per car to handle.

The flour which is being received now is being handled by men receiving aid from the county and Mayor's Relief fund, and is being hauled from the Carnegie siding to the auditorium on baggage trucks secured by President Harry Alexander of the Red Cross Chapter.

If the Farm Board can help the poor, why didn't it do something for that price-fixing idea? It was darned poor.

Boys Have Busy Day At Y Camp

First Day Is Filled With Usual Camp Opening Details

The first day at the Fred L. Rentz camp was spent chiefly in making the various adjustments that must be made in such an organization. Boys were assigned to their various tents and leaders appointed. However, the boys had plenty to keep them busy. Old baseball glove and bats were taken from their boxes and fishing poles repaired. Bunks were made and old camp stories swapped till at noon every boy was hungry and leaders had established a tentative arrangement of boys in the camp. How the boys enjoyed the dinner of good wholesome food prepared by the camp's efficient cook Mrs. Spicer.

After dinner there was a short period of rest and then sides chosen and a ball game played. Other boys went fishing, while a few indulged in a game of volleyball. At 4 o'clock there was a big swim in the cool Slippery Rock & swim that made every boy wish it was not so long till supper. After dark a camp-fire was built and Mr. Thomas and Mr. McNicholas explained to the boys certain details about camp life. Camp teams were to be chosen in the morning at chapel. Soon that tired feeling was most evident among the campers. Eyes began to close. At the sound of taps many of the boys were already sleeping. It was the first day and an exciting one. The camp wished each boy to have as much free time as possible. Today the camp begins on its regular program.

Police Believe French Aviatix Took Own Life

(International News Service)
BISKRA, Algeria, July 6.—Lena Bernstein, twenty-six year old French aviatix, committee suicide because she could not beat Amelia Earhart's straight-line record.

Such is the opinion of French authorities here who base their deduction on new facts brought to light a few days ago showing that Mile. Bernstein was attempting to set a new straight-line women's record when forced down on the desert twenty-five miles from here.

As her papers were not in order her plane was ordered seized and she was requested to hold herself at the disposal of the authorities. A sudden sandstorm, however, destroyed the plane.

The authorities say they have evidence showing she became mentally unbalanced by the loss of the plane and her lack of funds to replace it. It is reported she was walking out into the desert without food or water in a fit of mental depression.

Jail Man Who Threw Money Out Of Window

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, July 6.—Money didn't mean a thing to James Purcell of Oakland, when he came to Los Angeles to see the sights.

And judging from the courses of events, it's apt to mean much less to him from now on.

For Purcell, after boarding a Wilmington-bound Pacific electric car, and securing change for a $10 bill from the conductor, threw the change out of the window when the conductor refused it.

Arriving at Wilmington, Purcell endeavored to accost two ladies whom he did not know, according to police reports, and was taken into custody. Police physicians asserted that the man was suffering from "a dangerous and acute dementia."

Decrease Is Shown In Foreign Mail

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 6.—Venerable wise-cracks about hard times and broken friendship are apparently true, figures recently published here show. Correspondence between the United States and Europe has declined considerably, according to these figures. We often wonder which is more maddening—a stepchild or the world.

Wanderers Get Free Lodging At University Plant

(International News Service)
BOULDER, Colo., July 6.—The University of Colorado was recently revealed to be an institution where homeless wanderers obtain a night's lodging.

Thousands of men in all parts of the world, who never attended a class or plunged right tackle for a five-yard gain, have a warm spot in their hearts for the hilltop campus.

Charles E. Cummings, superintendent of the university power plant in the southeast corner of the campus, has been host to 5,000 "knights of the road" during the past few years. Beneath the boilers in the power plant they have found a warm resting place on cold winter nights.

Newspapers are provided for beds and hot water is available for any who might wish it.

Only on one occasion, Cummings said, has the hospitality of the power plant been violated. On that occasion one of the powerhouse firemen missed a pair of socks from his locker.

Word of the loss reached the "guests" and they began an intensive search. The socks were soon found and the thief tossed into a nearby stream. Since then there have been no more thefts.

Lord Mayor Of London Has World's Busiest Job

By JOSEPH THOMAS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 6.—Meet the man who loses from $50,000 to $75,000 a year while performing a job that is believed to be the busiest in the world.

He is the Lord Mayor of London who is elected yearly by the City of London sheriffs and aldermen.

Upon the election the Lord Mayor becomes Chief Magistrate of the city, the head of the city lieutenant, chief commissioner of the Old Bailey, an ex-officio member of the privy council, Admiral of the Port of London, a trustee of St. Paul's cathedral, and chairman of the court of aldermen and of the court of common council.

The most secret password of the Tower of London is confided to him, and only with his permission can troops pass through the city with fixed bayonets.

In times of emergency in making his majesty's wishes known to the public, the Lord Mayor acts as spokesman for the king.

The Lord Mayor is usually at his desk at 9 a. m. to deal with correspondence. He then attends the court to deal with offenders, presides over meetings of the Corporation and committees, receives visitors and attends luncheons, dinners, banquets and numerous other functions. It is usually after midnight before his round of duties has ended.

The number of dinners attended by the Lord Mayor annually exceeds 300. He is the guest to about 50 dinners given by the city companies, and the mayors of the 28 London boroughs extend invitations to him. In return he is the host at the Mansion house banquets to judges, bishops, mayors, aldermen, common councillors, bankers and other bodies.

In spite of the official salary of $50,000, the Lord Mayor always finds himself out of pocket by some $50,000 or more.

Handshake Before the Gong

Made when they met at a recent baseball game in Washington, D. C., this picture shows Speaker John Nance Garner of Texas as he extended a cordial greeting to Vice President Charles Curtis. Although the Speaker was unaware of what destiny had in store for him at that time, this handshake might be taken as symbolic of the traditional salute of opponents in the boxing ring, for both men are now rivals for the Vice Presidency.

A Bit of New York in Ireland

This interesting picture, made during the Eucharistic Congress in Dublin, shows Cardinal Hayes, of New York, in serious conversation with President DeValera of the Irish Free State. The Irish President was born in New York and had met the Cardinal on several previous occasions, notably in 1926 when DeValera was an exile here. Cardinal Hayes, of Irish parentage, was visiting Ireland for the first time.

Remove Tower From Fountain Inn Hotel

Local Steeplejack Removes Damaged Part Of Building Of Hotel

Tower and flag pole at the western side of the front of the Fountain Inn, which was struck by lightning and damaged in recent weeks, is now in the process of being removed by Carl Becker, local steeplejack. The entire upper cone shaped part of the tower is being removed and will not be replaced. The rounding part at the bottom or base of the tower will remain. Many people are watching the precarious work of Mr. Becker and an assistant.

Ostrich Trimming

The short-clipped ostrich feathers used in a lei necklace to trim this evening ensemble worn by Marion Davies, screen star, is a favorite fashion in Paris, where many ostrich boas are being worn. The same trimming edges the short puffed sleeves. The waistline is high and the skirt has a shirred flounce that is combined with a diamond-shaped top yoke.

Dispels Illusion

The picture of South American senoritas as languorous women to whom toil is anathema is being dispelled by Miss Bertha Lutz, of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, visiting in the United States. Miss Lutz is secretary of the National museum, a graduate of the Sorbonne, Paris. Miss Lutz will try to secure a large attendance of Brazilian women at the International Congress of Women to be held at the Chicago exposition in 1933.

ACCIDENT VICTIM

Charles Blair, who does a trucking business with Paul Kerr of New Castle, was injured in a peculiar accident Saturday morning in Cleveland. Mr. Blair had taken a load to Cleveland, and unloaded, when something went wrong with the tractor. He unhooked the tractor from the trailer and during this operation the dolly broke, throwing him quite a distance. Mr. Blair was taken to the City hospital in Cleveland, where it was thought upon first examination that he had sustained a broken shoulder bone and a fractured skull besides many minor cuts and bruises about the head.
X-ray pictures were to be taken to determine the full extent of his injuries. He is in a very serious condition but there is some hope of his recovery. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blair, were called to his bedside.

MANY ECONOMY BILLS BEFORE SPECIAL SESSION

Legislature Has Flood Of Bills

Every Department In State Is Facing Pruning Knife Of Legislators

COMMITTEE WILL TALK TO GOVERNOR

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 6.—The economy complex bloomed with new fervor today as legislators entering the second week of their special session discarded mere pruning knives for mightier cutting weapons.

Committees found themselves wading through a new flood of bills that poured into both branches in a seemingly endless stream, nearly all designed to cramp the prosperity of expenditures. With them came measures suggesting more and devious methods of raising new revenue.

Meanwhile, a possible stumbling block to the plan to adjust salaries of state employees loomed in the form of reports to the Wade-Sheffer house group that the legislature under the terms of the call for the session could not legally tamper with the school and administrative codes. A house committee was to confer with Gov. Gifford Pinchot today to discuss this phase.

To Reduce Expenses.

Two separate sets of bills designed to reduce operating expenses of the state government during the current biennium to permit appropriations for unemployment relief were offered in the house, one sponsored by the Talbot-Turner bloc in line with its $27,000,000 economy program, the other introduced by Rep. Fred C. Patterson, Beaver, as an individual.

The Talbot-Turner bills would cut deeply into appropriations to every branch of government. The largest single slash would affect the department of public instruction to the extent of $8,720,000. The department of property and supplies came next in line of proposed cuts with a figure of $8,440,592. The Greater Pennsylvania Council virtually would become a non-entity with $150,000 taken from it.

Cuts Favored.

The bloc favored, among other things: A cut of $750,000 in the appropriation for the Pymatungung dam project, reduction of $5,000,000 in appropriations for building construction at state-owned institutions, a moratorium on payments to the state teachers' retirement fund to effect a saving of $4,320,000, reduction of $1,772,000 in the appropriations to various colleges, cuts totaling $1,012,000 in the colleges of maintaining state teachers' colleges.

Other bills introduced in the lower branch included:

Black, Fayette, a one per cent income tax on all taxpayers for three years.

Hermansen, Luzerne, tax of one cent on every cigarette sold in the state, and a second bill cutting state salaries more than $2400, ten per cent.

Rice, Dauphin, an amendment to permit the issuance of bonds for forestry purposes in the amount of $25,000,000.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

FROM MISS CALVIN

July 3, 1932.

Mr. Fred Rentz,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

My Dear Mr. Rentz:—May I, through the courtesy of your paper, extend greetings to my former students of the senior high school? I promised them in June I would write to them of my experiences at the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions. I am more convinced than ever that every American, especially the young Americans, should become familiar with the practical methods of government and its functionings, for in many respects it is strikingly different from the "theory" as presented in text books. I'm sure I have learned more in the past two weeks than I could have learned in many months in a political science course in any college or university.

Observing national committee meetings, state caucuses, resolutions committee and credential committee hearings have been most enlightening, and certainly intriguing experiences. Of course, attendance at all but one of the sessions of the two conventions has been highly entertaining, to put it mildly. Just the colorful pageant alone with its music, demonstrations, cheering and "booming" galleries, its celebrities and its—well, what shall I call them ("Huey and Jimmy") is fascinating.

One felt the thrill of seeing interesting history in the making as Governor Roosevelt appeared before the convention in the dramatic fashion in which he did, to receive his notification of nomination, and his courageous, straightforward reply, which starts the campaign off with a bang. With the Democrats "on the inside track," so to speak.

I wish I might write of a great number of interesting and in some instances highly amusing incidents which I thoroughly enjoyed, but I shall be happy to relate these to any who might be interested when I return to New Castle in September, as I hope to do. I'm hoping enough former students who find they cannot go to college in the fall will be interested in organizing a young people's forum. So we can follow the developments of the campaign. Study the platforms and candidates and also follow the developments of international problems.

I am having to finish this en route. I nearly missed my train. Thanking you for former courtesies, I am,

Sincerely yours,

ELSIE FERGUSON CALVIN.

BARKLY AS A KEYNOTER

Editor of The News:

The keynote speech of Senator Barkly will surely go down in history along side of Patrick Henry's speech before the Virginia convention and Lincoln's great speech at Gettysburg. However, there were two things that the Senator forgot to mention. One was that Hoover is entirely responsible for the dry summer that we had two years ago and big crop of potato bugs, cut worms and book agents that we have to contend with this year.

Hereafter, and even after that, it would be well for a keynoter to write down a few of the most important points for it is a fact that memory is very fickle. Now that the insurgents are all against Hoover and the Democrats have come out for the repeal of the 18th amendment which means the return of the old saloon, it would seem as though the chance for Hoover was much improved. The opposition of the insurgents is a very valuable asset to a candidate for the office of President of the United States no matter what his political affiliations may be. In fact every man that runs for a high office of any kind ought to be sure he has all of the little group of insurgents against him.

How if Congress had only adjourned two or three months ago what a grand and glorious Fourth of July we might have had this year, provided of course we could have borrowed the money to buy the fireworks. When Congress adjourns every business man breathes a sigh of relief and is ready to shout for joy. May it not be that right here is one of the reasons for the crime waves that we have in this country for it is only a step from contempt for law makers to contempt for law.

Signed,

S. A. COWDEN.

APPRECIATES PUBLICITY

July 5, 1932.

Mr. Fred L. Rentz,
New Castle News Company,
New Castle, Pa.

My Dear Mr. Rentz:—

The 1932 High School Alumni Reunion has passed into history and I believe will be remembered as the beginning of a new chapter. Two lines of the High School song have proven true.

"Bonds of Friendship Here We're Forming.

"They can never break."

With this in mind, I hope we will see our Alumni Association become a civic organization, not functioning annually but whenever the occasion arises throughout the year to help our community.

The success of our reunion this year was due to the splendid cooperation of all. I want to express to you and your staff our fullest appreciation for the generous publicity given us by The New Castle News—the organ that continually peals forth each note for the good of our New Castle.

May I also express through the columns of your paper, my gratefulness to all the various committees in the alumni and the following organizations: The New Castle Dry Goods, the Drum Corps of the Legion of Honor, Hennon Bros., Butz Bros., Cunningham and Wein-gartner, Miller, Pyle and Street and the numerous stores handling tickets.

Most sincerely,

MRS. RACHEL POLLOCK TAYLOR.

Approval Given To Bank Re-opening

Third And Last Of Youngstown's Institutions Re-leases Cash

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 6.—After a two-hour hearing in a crowded courtroom, Judge George H. Gessner gave final approval to the plan whereby the City Trust and Savings Bank may reopen. This is the third and last of the banks which closed here last October 15 to reopen its doors.

Judge Gessner's decree returns the assets of the bank from the control of J. J. Fulton, state superintendent of banking, to the stockholders. It approves the plan which has been accepted by more than 85 per cent of depositors, and makes it binding upon all depositors, whether they approved or not. This means that 35 per cent of the deposits will be tied up and turned over to the Mutual Holding Company in return for certificates of indebtedness of this company.

The astonishing thing is that Washington achieved so much while spending so much time making beds famous.

In Race for Garner's Gavel

With the nomination of Speaker John Nance Garner of Texas for the Vice Presidency, another contest is brewing within the ranks of the Democratic Party as ambitious solons cast anxious eyes upon the gavel which may be relinquished by Speaker Garner after the next short session of Congress. Here are five favorite entrants in the race for the post now occupied by the Vice Presidential nominee. Top left is Rep. Joseph W. Byrnes of Tennessee, veteran chairman of the House Appropriations Committee; top right, Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York; lower left, Rep. William Bankhead of Alabama, assistant floor leader, and at lower right, John McDuffie of Alabama, who nominated Garner at the recent convention. In center is Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, who acted as Speaker during Garner's recent illness and is considered the likeliest candidate to succeed to the gavel.

Bonus Marchers Ranks Are Greatly Depleted

WASHINGTON, July 6.—With martial swing, the bonus seekers marched on Tuesday to the Capitol to show Congress its strength but found its ranks considerably depleted.

There was no blaring bands to add glitter to the parade up Pennsylvania avenue. Only an occasional drum, rolling with the monotony of a train crossing a bridge, broke the silence and kept the men in step.

Only 4,731 In Line

Their leaders maintained that between 16,000 and 23,000 marched in the parade and drifted from the speaker when the cheers for the last throw Walter W. Waters, the commander-in-chief.

Waters was absent in New York arranging for food supplies. In his third election to the command of the army his platform called for unlimited power amounting to a dictatorship.

A police census of the parade and a count of the encampments during the march showed only 11,760 veterans now in the city—the lowest number in weeks.

Unperturbed by the noisy, cheering group which gathered on the steps of the Senate side of the Capitol, Congress continued about its business.

New Dissension Seen

The demonstration bore evidence of new dissension within the ranks over leadership. The Communist wing distributed handbills among the men calling upon them to overthrow Walter W. Waters, the commander-in-chief.

New Castle Troop No. 17 Is Winner

Gets Banner At Scout Camp For Third Consecutive Time

Bill Shira's crack New Castle Troop 17 scouts in the Marlboro Hat at Camp John M. Phillips won the inspection banner for the third consecutive time yesterday. Doing that is usually quite a feat but it doesn't seem to be to this bunch of boys. Bill Boston, Bud McCamie, Dick Hamilton, Bob Minor, and Jack Higgins. The fellows have nicknamed Higgins "Shadow" because everywhere "17" goes Higgins is sure to follow after.

"Who has the ice pick?" is the statement made upon dipping toes into the water, yesterday morning, but after the plunge and swim the water was pronounced great. It was so "great" that the beginners were allowed to swim in the afternoon for the first time in two days.

"Can we go boating?" seems to be the cry of the camp. The fellows had two hours of it in the afternoon and were asking for more in the evening. No organized games were scheduled. All were electives. Some chose archery, some football, some basketball, and some tennis. A match reported played between Stump and Elverson vs Welch and More was said to have been won by Stump and Elverson.

As the shadows made swell camouflage capture the flag, a game of Indian stealth and cunning, was begun about 8:30 and ended about twenty-five minutes later by the side captained by Frank Elverson going the capturing from Captain Ralph Davies' men.

Campfire was held on the parade grounds where the boys sang songs and were entertained by Mr. H. G. Horton, executive, who told them of an executive trip to Colorado which he attended.

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 6.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot's letter notifying the state senate of the charges against W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, rested "on the table" of the upper branch today. The matter was quickly disposed of by the senators.

On motion of Senator McClure, Delaware, the communication was laid on the table pending the public hearing next Monday when Ainey is to appear to defend himself the charges.

LEADERS' CLASS
Miss Nance Pugh and a group of Girl Scout leaders met Tuesday evening at the end of the Highland street car line and hiked into the fields and woods nearby for the purpose of learning various methods of judging heights of objects, and after a period of this work they took up some botanical work, going into the fields for the wild flowers growing about.

On the return trip they stopped at the home of Mrs. Ralph Davis, Norwood avenue, and viewed her garden.

Mercer County Man Causes Arrest Of Local Dog Catcher

Charges Fail To Hold In Alderman's Court And Case Is Dismissed

New Castle's official dog catcher, Charles E. Settle, went about his usual work today not a bit disturbed about a complicated affair which the Fourth week-end brought—Settle's arrest by a Mercer county humane society agent for cruelty to dumb animals.

Settle, immediately discharged by Alderman William Marshall, before whom the visiting agent had him appear, was busy protecting the city from roaming dogs, cats and other domestic animals today.

The cruelty charge was preferred against Settle by Simon Laskowitz, of Sharon, agent of the Mercer organization. He was heard by the alderman, but Settle's story wasn't even called for because the informant's evidence was scarce.

Laskowitz claimed that Settle was cruel in his treatment to dogs at the city's garbage furnace, where the animals are officially disposed of. However, Settle and his witnesses were ready to prove that he was not.

W. W. Stevenson, chairman of the Lawrence County Humane Society, and Settle himself, are investigating further into the Sharon man's right to extend his work here. Visiting agents may do so, they believe, only by working through the society located in the outside county. Laskowitz, they said, had no consultation with the Lawrence county humane group.

Annual Fall Classic May Find Old Rivals Seeking Baseball Honors

YANKS TO MISS

CATCHER DICKEY

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sport Writer

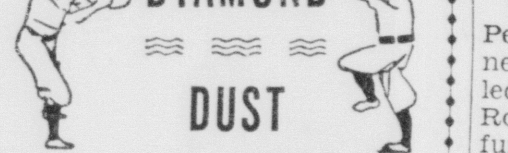

NEW YORK, July 6.—The New York Yankees, leading Detroit by 7½ games in the American League race, will be put on the spot today when they open their series with the second-place Tigers in a double-header without the services of Bill Dickey, their star catcher, suspended indefinitely for slugging Carl Reynolds in Washington Monday.

The Yankees have been showing definite signs of going into a slump and the loss of Dickey may throw them out of gear completely. Arndt Jorgens is their only other regular catcher and old Cy Perkins may have to be recalled from the bullpen to help him out.

A slump by the Yankees would tighten the American league race, for the Athletics, Tigers and Browns have been traveling almost as fast as the New Yorkers for the past five weeks.

Pirates Win
Pittsburgh, inaugurating a home stand against the Eastern clubs, played bang-up ball in beating the Giants yesterday, 4 to 3. Bill Swift, who opposed Bill Walker on the mound, won his own game with a single in the tenth inning.

Red Lucas, who lost a flock of tough games in Cincinnati in June, was given a seven-run lead by the Reds against the Cards in the first inning and that was plenty. He beat the champion easily, 12 to 4, while his mates clubbed three St. Louis hurlers for fifteen blows, including home runs made by Babe Herman and Lombardi.

Barlett held the Mahoning Independents to three hits when Ramsey walloped the Indies 15 to 1.

West Side Independents beat the Civis and Croton Independents and won games. Managers should call 9132.

J. DiMuccio hopped through the hall of fame when he did not allow the Civis any hits.

Houk made three hits when Elder beat Orrs 9 to 5 on the Elder A. C. field. Butler got a pair of doubles.

Fundoots bat worked good against Ellwood City when he got a trio of hits for West Pittsburgh in a county church loop tilt.

Banko opposed Cranach but the West Pittsburgh hurler had the best of the hurling.

Grim, McCracken and Van Eman made three hits for Volant when they defeated Malizias 12 to 5.

Kerr, Bunnell, Hartman and Campbell were credited with stealing bases in the Ryantown-Lawrence Indies setto.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Because of an Independence Day celebration—Roman candles and all—Rollie Hemsley, youthful catcher, was out of the Chicago Cubs' lineup today as his team faced the first of a hard three-game series with the Phillies.

The accident occurred in Pittsburgh while the Cubs were engaged in a series with the Pirates. Hemsley will be out of the lineup for at least a week and the greater part of the receiving burden will fall on the shoulders of Gabby Hartnett with Zach Taylor ready to substitute.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Fractional Gains Are Made By Some Leading Stocks

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 6.—Weakness in the utilities centering chiefly on American Telephone again turned the stock market irregularly lower today.

Fractional gains were shown by Eastman Kodak, Consolidated Gas, Chrysler, General Electric, General Foods and U. S. Steel, while small losses were registered by Bethlehem, Dupont, General Motors, National Biscuit and Woolworth.

The oils as a group were in active demand and moved ahead slightly. In the bond market the German issues continued the outstanding feature. The International 5½s and the 7s pushed ahead to new highs on the move, gains ranging from fractions to more than a point.

Commodity market showed a generally steady tone. Wheat and Cotton were up slightly, while Sugar dipped fractionally on profit taking induced by yesterday's advance.

Going Camping

Westminster Guild Will Spend
All Next Week At Cottage Grove

Girls of the Westminster Guild, an organization of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will spend next week camping at Cottage Grove, near New Wilmington. They will be accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Schnebly and will have a cottage for the week. The outing promises to be most enjoyable.

A meeting of importance will take place Friday evening at 8:30 Daylight Savings Time at the Schnebly home on Newell avenue. All girls who will make the camping trip are urged to be present.

Observations
In 7th Ward

That swarm of bees, captured a couple days ago and placed in a box in the bowling alleys, has now been given a good home. A local man took them, is going to fatten them up during this fall and winter and let them earn their keep in honey next spring.

Once in a long time the city forgets to do some little thing, but not very often. It had the flag hoisted to the pole in the Liberty street park on the morning of July 4, true to form, but didn't remember to take it down at sunset. Early on the morning of Tuesday it was spied by a police officer who removed it.

Seventh ward has one of the finest crop of hollyhocks in the city. Those along Atlantic avenue and in the rear of North Cedar St. homes are superb.
